

BUILDING COST INDEX

“The underlying strength of the U.S. economy continues to support ongoing growth in the commercial construction market. The high volume of work in the commercial market in conjunction with a limited availability of skilled labor remains a major influence on the increased pricing from specialty contractors.”

Karl F. Almstead
Vice President

Turner's Building Cost Index is determined by the following factors considered on a nationwide basis: labor rates and productivity, material prices and the competitive condition of the marketplace.
