Affordable Housing Advisory Committee - Questions*

1. The greatest challenge to keeping housing affordable in Hollywood is foreign ownership of multiple properties.
2. Home Purchase Education and Affordable Housing Activism.
3. Ownership & Rental Housing Affordability.
4. I grew up in an under-served community in Kansas City with very poor housing. There were many issues in my neighborhood that needed addressing. At the age of 12 I joined the Boys & Girls Club and began volunteering in the areas of need. By the age of 16 I was nationally recognized the President of the US for service to my community; then again for volunteering more than 1000 hours in a year.
5. Housing diversity is critical to Hollywood's economic health. If housing prices are too high for the area there will be constant turnover which could lead to migrant crime. The history of Hollywood is also affected when housing diversity is limited as it forces out pillars of the community who can no longer afford to reside here. It is also critical in maintaining a diversified work force.

Please answer these five questions above. 1. In your opinion what is the greatest challenge to keeping housing affordable in Hollywood? 2. Which of the following disciplines are you most skilled? • Home Purchase Education, • Housing Market Employment, • Housing Market Stability, • Affordable Housing Construction, • Affordable Housing Activism. 3. Which of the following disciplines are you most passionate? • Ownership Housing Affordability, • Rental Housing Affordability, • Housing Market Stability, • New Housing Construction, • Fair Housing. 4. What (if any) life experience motivated you toward volunteerism? 5. What role does housing diversity play in Hollywood's economic health?

Objective My objective is to utilize my education and training to enrich nonprofit or community-minded for profit organizations.

STATEMENT OF QUALIFICATIONS

My educational experiences at the University of Alabama and LeTourneau University were practical and hands on. Both of these institutions prepared me to go out and not only make an impact in my own businesses, but to also serve the needs of other very diverse companies as an employee and as a consultant.

While an undergrad, I worked my way up to Director of Operations in a nonprofit agency, putting into practice many of the concepts I was learning at the time. For example, marketing classes enabled me to promote the organization in many unique ways, by determining our target market. The management classes I completed enabled me to lead a staff of over 15 individuals at the age of 21. Finance classes taught me how to develop and maintain an operating budget of almost one million dollars and how to best allocate those funds to receive maximum returns.

My graduate education specifically, taught me among other things, to develop working business plans that could be used to later run the organization for years to come with few minor adjustments. I studied industry leading companies such as Starbucks® and Cirque du Soleil and made comprehensive evaluations and recommendations based on their complete operations including: finance, as well as possible debt reduction, marketing, brand identity, new emerging markets and products, and the evaluation of their competition including their strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats.

I have used these skills post-graduation in the startup of my own business. For the past

19 years I have been self-employed. I have had to manage staffs in multiple cities, develop operating budgets, identify and market to my target population and develop relationships with suppliers and forecast and plan short-term, midterm and long-term strategies for growth. I have had to focus on research a great deal because as a consultant, I have worked with clients in a variety of industries including: entertainment, construction, faith-based and nonprofits, automotive, sports, dining, hotel and tourism, and investment companies with differing needs.

My education and experience have allowed me to counsel these companies in a variety of areas such as: accounting, loan and grant procurement, business law, business and organization set-up, board development, personnel management, corporate tax preparation, and capital reinvestment. I have worked with some of these companies in taking existing resources and divesting into new and different markets.

I attended institutions that stressed and required strong business writing skills. Upon graduation, I soon learned the importance of this skill and I am grateful to be able to include it here as a qualification. I minored in English and my second minor was in Political Science. This area of education has also served me in that it is impossible to make business decisions without carefully considering the political and economic climates of those business environments. I have worked with companies doing business in Jamaica, and spent a good deal of time in Latin speaking countries.
