Affordable Housing Advisory Committee - Questions*

- 1) The greatest challenge in keeping housing affordable in Hollywood is the demand for housing. The demand in Hollywood is substantial due to its proximity to Fort Lauderdale and Miami. There is not enough supply to meet the demand. As property values and demand increases it directly impacts rental and purchase costs.
 - 2) I am most skilled in home purchase education, affordable housing activism and housing market stability since they all intertwine. Being a real estate agent, I come across individuals that would like to purchase in Hollywood but have unfortunately been priced out due to shortage of inventory and the competitiveness.
 - 3) I am most passionate about ownership housing affordability. Affordable homeownership provides stability for families. When one can afford to buy a home, it provides security and also allows the family to build equity overtime. As property values increase, homeowners can accumulate wealth that will be passed down to the next generation. This also shapes the neighborhoods and creates strong communities which in turn affects local businesses that stimulate the economy and provides jobs for the residents.
 - 4) I have always volunteered since high school even though that did slow down over the years. Being involved gives you purpose and it's a way to combine passion and service. Being involved also creates a community within your community which I love.
