Organization’s Background: Please provide a concise description of the Applicant Agency, including its history, years of operation, general mission statement, and primary services provided.

The mission of the Art and Culture Center/Hollywood is to cultivate creativity and the support of the arts in our community through education, innovation and collaboration.

The Center was founded in 1975 and incorporated on August 31, 1978, as the only visual arts non-profit organization in south Broward County, operating out of a small community space on Hollywood beach. The Center now manages visual arts galleries in the renovated Kagey Mansion built in 1924, an Arts School that is adjacent to the main facility, and a 500-seat theater in downtown Hollywood. It is one of South Florida’s leading multi-disciplinary arts organizations and impacts, on average, more than 60,000 people each year.

The Center is the third oldest arts non-profit in Broward County, and was designated a Major Cultural Institution by the Broward County Commission on Oct. 6, 2005. In 2016, the Center received an ArtsEd Forever! award from the Broward Cultural Division for Exceptional Service & Outstanding Contributions to Arts Education in Broward County. In 2015, the Center was selected as 2-1-1 Broward’s “Non-Profit Organization of the Year – Arts” at the Fifth Annual Non-Profit Academy Awards.

The Center is a regional leader among South Florida arts institutions in presenting standards-based arts education for youth, and contemporary visual arts exhibitions by national and local artists. Instruction for youth follows national Common Core standards, which links all curricula to other core subjects such as math, science and social studies. This shows students how the arts may inform all facets of learning. Each year, more than 80 unique curriculum-based activities are presented in the visual and performing arts. Programs include Summer Arts Camp, Teen Arts Ambassadors, Distance Learning Arts Studio, ARTastic Collaborations, Stage Kids, and Student Gallery exhibitions. Since 2011, a total of 1,358 children ages 4-17 – about 225 per summer – have enrolled in a visual and/or performing arts session at Summer Arts Camp. Each school year, approximately 1,000 students receive free arts instruction through the Distance Learning teleconferencing network; and about 500 students exhibit annually in the Student Gallery.

The Center presents up to 20 gallery exhibitions annually that showcase original works by more than 150 local and national contemporary artists. Exhibitions include at least two artists talks and educational workshops that inform audiences about the creative process and the impact the visual arts have on public design, civic engagement and cultural trends. Exhibitions are regularly reviewed and profiled by area arts writers, bringing attention to the exhibiting artists and raising awareness of Hollywood and Broward County as a leading arts destination.

PROGRAM INFORMATION

1. How does your proposed project address the LETF Category (see above) as well as the Hollywood Police Department's Priority Area?

Summer Arts Camp provides youth from all economic backgrounds with high-quality instruction in a safe, nurturing environment outside the school calendar, assuring continued academic and personal growth during the summer months. According to the most recent data from the 2008-09 National Longitudinal Survey of Youth of 1997 (NLSY97) sponsored by the U.S. Department of Labor, high school students who earned few or no arts credits were five times more likely not to have graduated than students who earned many arts credits. Dropouts are 3.5 times more likely to be arrested than high school graduates and more than eight times as likely to be incarcerated, according to a report from Fight Crime: Invest in Kids, a nonprofit anti-crime organization comprised of more than 3,000 police chiefs, sheriffs, prosecutors, and other law enforcement leaders. Further research shows that students who participate regularly in the arts have higher GPAs and score higher on standardized tests such as the SAT.

Through education programs such as Summer Arts Camp that serve Hollywood residents, the Center sees first-hand how exposure to the visual and performing arts has a positive impact on children, particularly those from low-income households. The benefits of arts education can be especially profound for children from low-income households, such as those who receive reduced-tuition scholarships to attend Summer Arts Camp. According to researchers at the Harvard University Graduate School of Education, children growing up in economically disadvantaged environments may be at risk for academic difficulties related to vocabulary acquisition because they are exposed to less verbal input. One parent shared how Summer Arts Camp impacted her daughter: "The ability for effective verbal communication is more important than ever and I know that [my daughter's] abilities in this arena have been significantly enhanced thanks to your summer camp."

2. Why is this funding needed (What community problem does it address)? What data suggests this program should be implemented with this population or in this geographical location?

The U.S. Department of Justice, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention encourages children to use their creative talents because, "arts and performances help youth develop a sense of identity, independence, discipline, and self-worth. They also help prevent or reduce crime and violence among the young artists and performers involved. According to research, students who participate in band, orchestra, chorus, or drama are significantly less likely than non-participants to drop out of school, be arrested, use drugs, or engage in binge drinking."

The need for free and reduced-tuition out-of-school arts programming that benefits at-risk children from low-income homes is great in Hollywood, where all but one of the 20 public schools has been designated a Title I school. That includes 12 of 13 elementary schools, 4 of which are in the 33020 zip code, where the Center is located. Each of the 4 middle schools and 3 high schools in Hollywood are Title I. Schools receive Title I designation based on at least 40 percent of enrollment being comprised of youth from low-income families. According to the U.S. Census Bureau's American Community Survey, the median household income in Hollywood from 2011-2015 was $46,791, which was 11% less than the median income in Broward County ($51,968).

3. Program Summary (3-5 sentences): Provide an overview of program services.

The Art and Culture Center/Hollywood will make its 10-week Summer Arts Camp 2017 financially accessible to all youth ages 4-18 in Hollywood by providing low-income families with reduced-tuition scholarships for full- and half-day sessions in the visual and performing arts. Applications for reduced-tuition scholarships are available online and at the Center, and are awarded on a first-come, first-serve basis, contingent on available funds. Funds from the Hollywood Police Department Law Enforcement Trust Fund would support scholarship awards to Hollywood residents and a portion of program costs for instructors and supplies.

4. Describe the program in detail and how it will be implemented: (Describe Who, What, Where, and When)

Please make sure your response includes program successes or challenges if previously funded, Why the agency needs the funding and its impact on the community. All programs must address a specific population and the narrative should indicate the number of clients served, services provided etc.

Summer Arts Camp 2017 will consist of 18 full- and half-day sessions in the visual and performing arts, 2-to-4 weeks in length, from June 12 to August 18, 2017. Camp sessions will take place at the following venues: Art and Culture Center/Hollywood's Arts School, 1626 Harrison Street; the Center's Student Gallery, 1650 Harrison Street; ArtsPark at Young Circle, 1 Young Circle; and Hollywood Central Performing Arts Center, 1770 Monroe Street. Approximately 225 youth enroll each summer. Camp programs are offered as follows:

- Littlest Actors, Littlest Artists: Three two-week program periods (6 sessions total based on separate half-day sessions for Actors and Artists) for ages 4-6. Children may enroll for one or both sessions.
- Young Actors, Young Artists: Five two-week program periods (10 sessions total based on half-day sessions for Actors and Artists) for ages 6-12. Children may enroll for one or both sessions.
- Broadway Actors: Two four-week, full-day sessions (ages 8-18), concluding with performances of a Broadway, Jr. or School Edition musical (Session 1: July 7, Beauty and the Beast) and (Session 2: August 11, Pinocchio).

The Center seeks to provide scholarship awards to up to 15 Hollywood youth ages 4-18 from low-income households, contingent on funding from the Law Enforcement Trust Fund. Qualifying scholarship recipients from Hollywood may enroll in one program session, two or four weeks in length, in the visual and performing arts. All 18 camp sessions meet daily, Monday through Friday, reducing the amount of idle time that can result in wayward choices. Each session concludes with campers presenting an exhibition or performance that is open to the community in the Center's Student Gallery, at ArtsPark at Young Circle, or at the 500-seat Hollywood Central Performing Arts Center. Youth and their caregivers are informed at the outset that the camp mandates attendance levels leading up to their final performing arts presentation. This instills a sense of personal responsibility and team-building that is essential in their personal and academic development.

"This camp introduces the attendees to experiences they would not have if they had not attended," wrote one parent in a program survey. "To be able to have fun at camp while building self-esteem, learning important life skills and exercising the brain is priceless! Although the camp is worth every penny, if it were not for the tuition waiver discount, my son could not attend. THANK YOU for the financial assistance!"

Tuition scholarships are available to children from families who qualify for the federal free/reduced school lunch program. Family income must be at or below the following Florida income guidelines: $29,637 for a family of two; $37,296 (family of three); $44,955 (family of four). According to Broward County Public Schools, 61% of its K-12 students participated in this program in 2014-15. Summer Arts Camp is open to all youth, regardless of ability level or socioeconomic status. Applications for reduced tuition scholarships are available online and at the Center, and are awarded on a first-come, first-serve basis, based on available funds. Since 2009, the Center has awarded more than $83,000 in tuition funds to 284 youth.

One parent expressed her gratitude, writing, "I appreciate everything from the kindness of all the staff to hearing the encouraging words they gave the students. It means a lot and I am thankful I was able to find your camp! The camp truly fed a part of [my daughter and niece] that we've always known was there, but had difficulties reaching."

Summer Arts Camp is organized in three unique areas that serve as a growth pyramid in the arts for children, beginning at pre-K and continuing through high school. Pre-K children ages 4-6 may enroll in Littlest Actors, Littlest Artists to receive thematic instruction in activities such as music, storytelling, movement, drawing, painting and more. Children ages 6-12 enrolled in Young Actors, Young Artists explore drama, improvisation, set design, printmaking, mixed media and more. Broadway Actors immerses youth in the performing arts through two four-week sessions for ages 8-18, which in 2017 will conclude with Broadway Junior performances of Beauty and the Beast, Jr. (July 7) and Pinocchio, Jr. (August 11) at the 500-seat Hollywood Central Performing Arts Center. Broadway Actors performances are typically attended by more than 350 people from our community.

All program content is linked to state and national standards in all subjects, including language arts, cultural studies, math and science. By adhering to curriculum standards, the Center assures that the proven educational benefits of the arts are applied in all subject areas that students are taught during their school calendar. The primary goal of Summer Arts Camp is to provide youth, including those who have little or no experience in the arts, with a structured and fully interactive arts learning environment. Research shows that children who participate regularly in the arts improve their attention span, learn more quickly, and develop higher level critical thinking skills. They also have fun and make memories that last a lifetime. For each program session, the Center contracts with professional teachers/artists to create curriculum materials. Teachers/artists are assisted by 15+ high-school students in the Center's Teen Arts Ambassadors program, who provide about 2,600 volunteer hours over 10 weeks.

5. Describe the Applicant Agency's experience in serving the target population and the capacity of the Applicant Agency to undertake the proposed program.

While other organizations provide arts activities outside the school calendar, the Center's Summer Arts Camp is the most comprehensive and impactful visual and performing arts camp for youth in south Broward County and northeast Miami-Dade. The Center is unique in providing financial aid to its high-quality summer camp through reduced-tuition scholarships. Assistant Director Susan Rakes oversees Summer Arts Camp. She has served on the Center staff since 2003 and is a certified teacher with an MS in Interdisciplinary Arts Administration. In FY2016, a total of 5,638 youth experienced the visual and/or performing arts through a Center program. The target population is families with children ages 4-18 who are at various stages in their development in terms of how they make decisions that result in positive outcomes. Summer Arts Camp instructors encourage good decision-making through activities that require teamwork, creative problem solving, respect for others, accepting responsibility, and following through. Children develop self-confidence and improve their communication skills in a safe, healthy and nurturing environment under the guidance of strong adult role models. This provides the foundation for a safer community by helping children experience success and avoid destructive behaviors that lead to drug use and criminal activity. LETF Funds will support, in part, reduced-tuition scholarships that are available to children from families who qualify for the federal free/reduced school lunch program, thus taking them off the streets and giving them a positive experience during the summer. Approximately 60% of summer camp enrollments live in Hollywood.

6. Has your agency received funding from LETF? (If yes, identify the source, the $ amount and provide performance data regarding your contracted outcomes for the various fiscal years your agency was funded).

The Center received a $2,500 grant from Hollywood Police Department's Law Enforcement Trust Fund for reduced-tuition scholarships for Hollywood residents for Summer Arts Camp 2016 and $5,000 in 2015.

In 2016, 27 youth from Hollywood received financial aid valued at $6,775. This represents a portion of the 50 youth who were awarded reduced-tuition valued at $12,937.

In 2015, the Center awarded financial support to 29 youth valued at nearly $8,000. Of these scholarships, 16 were awarded to Hollywood residents valued at $5,785.

The Center also received $5,000 from Hollywood's LETF in 2014. These dollars helped support reduced-tuition scholarships; the Teen Arts Ambassador program that gives youth valuable work experience; and Free Admission Day during the summer gallery exhibition, The Art of Nathan Sawaya featuring IN PIECES. The number of individuals impacted were as follows:

Scholarships: 26 reduced-tuition scholarships were awarded, totaling $7,041 in financial aid to qualifying families.

Teen Arts Ambassadors: 16 high-school students provided 2,658 hours of volunteer support during Summer Arts Camp.

Back to School Free Admission Day: 257 individuals, including 79 children, attended, representing $1,562 in savings to visitors.

BUDGET NARRATIVE (Required for ALL applications) (Provide an explanation of what the budget will include)

Personnel costs/salaries represent full-time positions for the Assistant Director, Education Manager, and Education Coordinator. The Assistant Director oversees Summer Arts Camp, and the Education Manager and Education Coordinator implement activities with teachers/artists and Teen Arts Ambassadors. Administrative staff includes a portion of the salaries for the Executive Director, Finance Manager, Theater Manager, Technical Manager, theater custodian, Design and Web Manager, Partnerships and Communications Director, and Director of Development.

Consultants and Professional Fees ($37,300) is for contract labor for up to 35 outside teachers/artist positions required to deliver 18 unique program sessions in the visual and performing arts. Supplies ($4,500) include the rights fees for the scripts to present Beauty and the Beast, Jr. and Pinocchio, Jr., and art-making materials for visual pieces and stage performances. Printing and Copying ($3,300) represents the costs to print 10,000 full-color registration brochures to be distributed beginning in March; and for event programs for exhibitions and performances that close each camp session. Postage ($800) is the cost to mail a portion of the registration brochures to families on the Center's mailing list, and area community centers. Advertising ($2,000) includes print ads in the monthly Hollywood Gazette magazine and other publications that reach families with school-age children. Insurance ($990) is for supplemental insurance for camp participants.

The LETF request supports a portion of the costs to underwrite reduced-tuition scholarships for approximately 15 youth from Hollywood, and for costs associated with teachers/artists and supplies.

Dear Taxpayer:

This is in response to your Mar. 05, 2014, request for information regarding your tax-exempt status.

Our records indicate that you were recognized as exempt under section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code in a determination letter issued in MARCH 1980.

Our records also indicate that you are not a private foundation within the meaning of section 509(a) of the Code because you are described in section(s) 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi).

Donors may deduct contributions to you as provided in section 170 of the Code. Bequests, legacies, devises, transfers, or gifts to you or for your use are deductible for Federal estate and gift tax purposes if they meet the applicable provisions of sections 2055, 2106, and 2522 of the Code.

Please refer to our website www.irs.gov/eo for information regarding filing requirements. Specifically, section 6033(j) of the Code provides that failure to file an annual information return for three consecutive years results in revocation of tax-exempt status as of the filing due date of the third return for organizations required to file. We will publish a list of organizations whose tax-exempt status was revoked under section 6033(j) of the Code on our website beginning in early 2011.

Part I Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN)

Enter your TIN in the appropriate box. The TIN provided must match the name given on line 1 to avoid backup withholding. For individuals, this is generally your social security number (SSN). However, for a resident alien, sole proprietor, or disregarded entity, see the Part I instructions on page 3. For other entities, it is your employer identification number (EIN). If you do not have a number, see How to get a TIN on page 3.

Note. If the account is in more than one name, see the instructions for line 1 and the chart on page 4 for guidelines on whose number to enter.

Part II Certification

- Under penalties of perjury, I certify that:
- The number shown on this form is my correct taxpayer identification number (or I am waiting for a number to be issued to me); and
 - I am not subject to backup withholding because: (a) I am exempt from backup withholding, or (b) I have not been notified by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that I am subject to backup withholding as a result of a failure to report all interest or dividends, or (c) the IRS has notified me that I am no longer subject to backup withholding; and
 - I am a U.S. citizen or other U.S. person (defined below); and
 - The FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that I am exempt from FATCA reporting is correct.

Certification instructions. You must cross out item 2 above if you have been notified by the IRS that you are currently subject to backup withholding because you have failed to report all interest and dividends on your tax return. For real estate transactions, item 2 does not apply. For mortgage interest paid, acquisition or abandonment of secured property, cancellation of debt, contributions to an individual retirement arrangement (IRA), and generally, payments other than interest and dividends, you are not required to sign the certification, but you must provide your correct TIN. See the instructions on page 3.

Future developments. Information about developments affecting Form W-9 (such as legislation enacted after we release it) is at www.irs.gov/fw9.

Purpose of Form

An individual or entity (Form W-9 requester) who is required to file an information return with the IRS must obtain your correct taxpayer identification number (TIN) which may be your social security number (SSN), individual taxpayer identification number (ITIN), adoption taxpayer identification number (ATIN), or employer identification number (EIN), to report on an information return the amount paid to you, or other amount reportable on an information return. Examples of information returns include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Form 1099-INT (interest earned or paid)
- Form 1099-DIV (dividends, including those from stocks or mutual funds)
- Form 1099-MISC (various types of income, prizes, awards, or gross proceeds)
- Form 1099-B (stock or mutual fund sales and certain other transactions by brokers)
- Form 1099-S (proceeds from real estate transactions)
- Form 1099-K (merchant card and third party network transactions)

- Form 1098 (home mortgage interest), 1098-E (student loan interest), 1098-T (tuition)
 - Form 1099-C (canceled debt)
 - Form 1099-A (acquisition or abandonment of secured property)
- Use Form W-9 only if you are a U.S. person (including a resident alien), to provide your correct TIN.
- If you do not return Form W-9 to the requester with a TIN, you might be subject to backup withholding. See What is backup withholding? on page 2.
- By signing the filled-out form, you:
- Certify that the TIN you are giving is correct (or you are waiting for a number to be issued),
 - Certify that you are not subject to backup withholding, or
 - Claim exemption from backup withholding if you are a U.S. exempt payee. If applicable, you are also certifying that as a U.S. person, your allocable share of any partnership income from a U.S. trade or business is not subject to the withholding tax on foreign partners' share of effectively connected income, and
 - Certify that FATCA code(s) entered on this form (if any) indicating that you are exempt from the FATCA reporting, is correct. See What is FATCA reporting? on page 2 for further information.
