Subject: Program to Prepare Communities for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks (CCTA) grant

Good afternoon Mr. Manager,

As previously discussed, the City of Miami was approved for $723,260 to implement a CCTA program in the City of Miami in conjunction with partner jurisdictions. The FEMA process requires that the person who submitted the grant application must be the one accepting the award in the on-line system. Since I was the one submitting the application on behalf of the City, I will have to accept the award (and documents have my name). Once I accept, I can then include the City Manager as Signatory Official to have his name included in documents. Furthermore, the on-line acceptance must also occur within 30 days of notification (Sept 12/17). Trainings scheduled for next week will require the update of budget and work program documents that will be available only to entities that have accepted the award. It is imperative that the City is able to participate on these webinars in order to meet the implementation timeline.

This item will be presented to the Commission in October by Fire Department.

I'm respectfully requesting authorization to move forward with approval of award to ensure the City does not lose the funding and can update budget/work program according to the FEMAs schedule. It is understood that the Miami Commission will have to accept funding to then have an agreement routed for signatures following the City's established signature/approval process.

Lillian P. Blondet

NEED

1. VULNERABILITIES

The Southeast Florida Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attack Initiative (the Project), is a regional project coordinated by the Southeast Regional Domestic Security Taskforce Region 7 (SERDSTF). The SERDSTF is a network consisting of 109 multi-discipline, multi-jurisdictional regional partner agencies. The taskforce complements the existing knowledge and structure of federal processes, from the Miami-Ft. Lauderdale Urban Areas Security Initiative (UASI), which is comprised of Miami-Dade, Broward, Palm Beach and Monroe Counties. This Initiative represents Florida's most populous region with over 6.5 million residents, 9,875 square miles and more than 200 miles of coastline susceptible to attacks. The region is home to the Network Access Point center of the Americas, one of the world's largest data centers, which redirects most of the digital information that comes from Latin America. About 90% of data traffic from Central and South America passes through the South FL facility before continuing to its final destination to more than 148 countries around the world. It is the only region with five major sporting franchises in the State and the largest concentration of international banks in the U.S. and four international airports. The Miami-Ft. Lauderdale UASI is notable for its international seaports: PortMiami, Port Everglades and Port Palm Beach.

The seaports' accessibility, location and daily logistics pose unique vulnerabilities. Open waterways surround each of the region's ports, all of which have both civilian and commercial traffic. Accessibility to terminals is open to the public during cruise ship embarkation and debarkation times. PortMiami is among America's busiest ports and recognized as a global gateway. As of 2015, approximately 4.9 million passengers came through Port Miami, more than any other port in the world. Port Everglades, has approximately 3.7 million cruise passengers and over a million shipping containers pass through, annually. Port Palm Beach is the 4th busiest deep water port in Florida and the 18th busiest in the US. A major consequence of a complex coordinated terrorist attack (CCTA) at any one of the seaports is the large loss of life that would result due to the millions of travelers that pass through the ports each year and the large number of employees working at the ports. An attack of this magnitude runs the risk of overwhelming regional emergency response resources, including non-law enforcement government, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and private sector entities.

PortMiami contributes $28 billion annually to the local economy and supports more than 207,000 jobs in South FL. For Port Everglades, approximately 224,000 Florida jobs are impacted by the Port, including 11,700 people who work for companies that provide direct services. On average, Port Palm Beach, generates $7 billion in commodities and $216 million in business revenue. A large scale CCTA event in the Southeast FL Region has the potential to cripple, not only the area's tourism and commercial trade, but the state of Florida's economy as a whole.

Another vulnerability is the volatility and value of cargo that passes through our seaports. Port Everglades is South FL's main seaport for receiving petroleum products including gasoline, jet fuel, and alternative fuels, processing 121 million barrels of fuel (5,082 million gallons) in 2016. Fuel and liquid petroleum gas storage and handling of hazardous materials are key components of Port Everglades' operation, but provide for an unintended weapon system. The dynamics of these arrangements are compounded by the close proximity to airports, railroads and financial facilities. A CCTA event has the risk of causing a major interruption of outgoing and incoming petroleum and cargo to the region. Maintaining the ingress and egress of materials in these locations is of critical importance to the security and financial stability of the economies in this region.

The election increased our unique vulnerability risk, as Palm Beach County is the home of President Trump's Mar-A-Lago resort. His presence in Southeast FL for extended periods of time, exponentially raises our vulnerability to a CCTA.

2. CAPABILITY GAPS RELATED TO CCTA

Capability gaps identified during the regional THIRA confirm the region's inability to conduct comprehensive training and exercise due to limited State Homeland Security Grant Program (HSGP) funding, and ongoing cuts to the Miami/Ft. Lauderdale UASI allocation. The lack of HSGP and UASI training funds, combined with a recent slew of budget cuts to many of the region's first responder agencies, further diminish regional training and exercise opportunities for municipalities that would normally respond to a large CCTA incident in support of county teams. This was evident throughout Operation Heat Shield in 2016, where only eleven of the region's SWAT teams were able to supply personnel 'in-kind' to participate in a series of multi-jurisdictional response scenarios. Operation Heat Shield was a complex, regional response full-scale exercise, developed to address gaps identified during the regional Joint Counterterrorism Awareness Workshop Series (JCTAWS). During Heat Shield, multi-disciplinary and multi-jurisdictional participants, exercised emergency response plans while testing unified command capabilities in response to a series of scenarios that developed over a span of nearly 18 hours and across eight venues in Miami-Dade County, FL. The lack of funding to reimburse agencies for overtime prevented smaller municipal partner agencies from participating in the exercise.

The assessment from a 2014 JCTAWS Table Top also confirmed the level of planning, coordination and training among first responders is central to the successful disruption and termination of a CCTA. The need to provide regional training and exercise to prepare and respond to a CCTA incident remains a top priority. Given the opportunity to provide regional multidiscipline, multi-jurisdictional partners with comprehensive CCTA-related regional training and exercises, the following CAPABILITY GAPS that were previously identified would be addressed:

1. Communication and data sharing challenges between emergency responders are consistently problematic during a mass casualty incident resulting from a CCTA event. Interoperable communication deficiencies directly contribute to communication and planning disconnect during a CCTA response;
2. Coordination between healthcare facilities and emergency operations centers for patient tracking and immediate/long term victim assistance;
3. Affected hospitals and emergency management need to communicate to prepare for the needs of victims impacted by CCTA incidents. Collaboration between EMS, ESF-8 (public health/medical services), law enforcement, hospitals, the medical examiner's office, public information officers, mass care stakeholders, and whole community partners is necessary to address family reunification and the establishment of a family assistance center while maintaining a secure environment;
4. Need for integrated law enforcement and fire-rescue response to a CCTA incident;
5. Intelligence and information sharing between affected federal, state and local partners, to ensure coordinated public information sharing occurs; and
6. Major large-scale events that require special handling have issues regarding command and control between responding law enforcement and fire-rescue specialty teams. CCTA grant funded training/exercise is critical for smaller municipal specialty team agencies to exercise with State recognized specialty teams. Municipal agencies do not receive State funding for counter-terrorism training and preparedness, and would not be able to participate.

SOUTHEAST FLORIDA COMPLEX COORDINATED TERRORIST ATTACK INITIATIVE

3. RESOURCE LIMITATIONS and FEDERAL FUNDS NEEDS, ACCOMPLISHMENTS, FUNDING

Diminished support from the State Homeland Security Grant Program (SHGP) and limited resources have created a need for additional federal funding for CCTA preparedness and training. SERDSTF Region 7 teams charged with responding to a CCTA incident within the region, have been receiving minimal funding each year, due to the ongoing reduction of SHGP funding below:

In FY 2015 – 2017 Florida was awarded $11,040,500 in funds. Region 7 received respectively:

- $1,347,702 (12.2%) $1,031,858 (9.35%) $1,519,296 (13.76%)

The Miami/Ft. Lauderdale UASI also has significant reductions in funding:

- a 50% allocation reduction in 2012 and an additional 2% reduction in 2016

Region 7 is the largest and most densely populated region in the state, with more than 33% of Florida's population and containing critical infrastructure. Florida's SHGP allocation formula fails to take into account the region's shifting population associated with tourism; over 27.6 million people visit this region yearly. These changes increase the region's risk environment from CCTA incidents. The pattern of underfunding Southeast FL prohibits the implementation of region-wide proactive multi-disciplinary CCTA-type training and exercise for affected municipalities that do not receive SHGP funding. The financial burden to bear their own training, is too great for smaller partners. Without a coordinated regional effort, training obtained in silos results in the absence of interoperability during any future large-scale CCTA. Regional training also ensures all partners adhere to a common curriculum.

Preparedness and training is key to strengthening our collective security and resilience. Rescue Task Force trainings have occurred in a few of the jurisdictions within the region. In 2014, a JCTAWS Tabletop Exercise was conducted in Miami. The capability gaps identified as a result, led to the creation of a full-scale, multi-jurisdictional exercise called Operation Heat Shield. The exercise involved a situational scenario on "All-Star Baseball Game Weekend" at Miami's Marlins Park. Results and observations were as follows:

- The value of victim Warm-Zone extraction was shown during the morning portion of the exercise, especially the need of close coordination between uniformed personnel and EMS;
- The use of pre-deployed Florida Department of Health State Medical Response Teams at Marlins Park proved invaluable in the triage of victims prior to hospital transport; and
- SWAT Commanders were educated on the Southeast Fusion Center's (SEFFC) criminal intelligence sharing capabilities prior and during the exercise. The SEFFC is Miami-Dade Police Department's Homeland Security Bureau.

We accomplished the goal to unite all 10-12 response teams to work together. Officer safety was enhanced through the purchase of 15, M4 training bolts for use with new Universal Training Munitions, enabling officers to train using their own weapons moving forward. Federal funding, training, and/or technical assistance received for regional CCTA preparedness:

UASI FUNDING: FY 2012 - $937,577.52; FY 2013 - $1,082,793.65; FY 2014 - $782,045.98

4. VISION, GOALS, OBJECTIVES ALIGNMENT TO CCTA OBJECTIVES, CAPABILITY GAPS

VISION: A prepared Southeast FL Region with uniformed operational, communication and emergency response capabilities and personnel skilled at responding to and recovering from complex coordinated terrorist attacks and capable of utilizing regional emergency response resources and collaborations to strengthen the whole community.

	GOALS	OBJECTIVES
1	Provide a concise depiction of regional gaps analysis to partners utilizing information obtained from past CCTA type regional exercises	Review existing plans and after action reports and update existing gaps analysis
2	Assess the effectiveness of the Southeast Regional Domestic Security Task Force (SERDSTF) Terrorism Response Plan's whole community approach" to CCTAs to mitigate deficiencies	Track the achievement of full scale exercise objectives by all regional partners
3	Evaluate the coordination and preparedness of multi-jurisdictional and multi-disciplined tactical teams and regional partners to a CCTA of critical infrastructure and civilian targets	1) Test regional agency coordination, response and rescue efforts in a unique multi-jurisdictional CCTA full scale exercise scenario incorporating the whole community approach 2) Conduct a series of table top exercises at 4 county emergency operation centers to exercise the whole community approach and address gaps, facilitating an exercise environment where collaboration between EMS, medical/health, law enforcement, public information officers, mass care stakeholders, and whole community partners are necessary to address family reunification and the establishment of a family assistance center
4	Utilize training to prepare regional personnel to respond to CCTA	Provide a Train the Trainer course to a diverse cadre of instructors from the four county region to equip them to train personnel region wide

5. APPROACH TO EXECUTING PROJECT ACROSS ACTIVITY AREAS DELIVERABLES/OUTPUTS

Identifying Gaps: Create a SERDSTF planning team consisting of whole community partners to review existing plans and after action reports. Contract a consultant to update the existing gap analysis with information obtained from various CCTA type regional table top and full-scale exercises (JCTAWS/Operation Heat Shield) within the last three years. This information will be shared with affected partners and used to develop regional training and exercise.

Deliverable: updated regional gap analysis.

Planning: Establish a multi-discipline Regional Planning Team to develop a regional CCTA full-scale exercise to address gaps identified in the regional plan.

Deliverable: Planning team dedicated to CCTA project development.

Training: The SERDSTF partners will coordinate the following Train the Trainer courses within their jurisdictions.

Deliverable: Create a Train the Trainer model for the region.

Bleeding Control for the Injured (B-Con): Designed to support the "Stop the Bleed". The course teaches the public and non-medical personnel how to utilize the basic essentials of a small IFAK and control major hemorrhage.

Critical Decision Making for Complex Coordinated Attacks (PER-335): Intended for first responders and key staff. This course addresses the vulnerability of any community to a public safety situation, such as an active shooter at a shopping mall; a train derailment with hazardous chemicals; a bombing incident at a commercial district; a plane crash; or chemical, biological, radiological, nuclear, or explosive attack.

Rescue Task Force Training Course: for Police and Fire personnel in an active shooter scenario to reduce mortality due to exsanguination.

L-965 - Resource Unit Leader Course NIMS ICS All-Hazards: training to be completed by personnel who are regularly assigned to Functional, Support, or Unit Leader positions on Type 3 or 4 AHIMTs.

L-964 - Situation Unit Leader Course NIMS ICS All-Hazards: training to be completed by personnel who are regularly assigned to Functional, Support, or Unit Leader positions on Type 3 or 4 AHIMTs Exercising: Contract with the Regional Planning Council to assist with the planning, design and implementation of (4) HSEEP compliant table top exercises for each of the region's Emergency Operation Centers, and one regional CCTA full-scale exercise.

Deliverable: Four table tops and one regional full-scale exercise.

The regional planning team will use information provided by regional critical infrastructure partners to develop a series of unique CCTA scenarios within Miami-Dade, Broward, and Palm Beach counties that will test the planning, response and recovery capabilities of our affected multi-disciplinary multi-jurisdictional partners. The full-scale will include a series of synchronized attacks on multiple high value targets throughout the region. Specifically, the exercise will be based on the premise of a CCTA at PortMiami, Port Everglades and Port Palm Beach and will contain 12 unique exercises. The attacks will take place with little or no warning during the "week of the Super Bowl in 2020". These exercises will address the identified gaps, and test command and control, communication, patient tracking, immediate and long-term post-incident victim care, warm-zone extraction techniques, family reunification and regional collaboration during a CCTA incident.

6. APPROACH FOR CAPTURING, DISSEMINATING and SHARING PROJECT

The Southeast Regional Domestic Security Task Force (SERDSTF) operates in coordination and support of the State's counterterrorism and domestic efforts, and the Miami/Ft. Lauderdale UASI. The SERDSTF works conjointly with UASI to enhance regional capabilities, information sharing, planning, coordination and training with public and private partners. The SERDSTF was established to address terrorism and All-Hazard Emergency Operations efforts by federal, state, and local task force agencies using a whole community approach. The processes already in place through the SERDSTF will facilitate the capture, dissemination and sharing of project results, best practices, lessons learned and other results among regional Project partners and other jurisdictions.

The SERDSTF regional planning approach incorporates 109 multi-discipline, multi-jurisdictional partners in the following sectors: law enforcement, fire, health and medical, education, interoperable communication, critical infrastructure, public information, emergency management, maritime, cyber security, Southeast Florida Fusion Center (SEFFC), public, private, and tribal partners. SERDSTF staff provides support & management; facilitates regional training & exercise; and coordination between all regional and whole community partners. Over 350 task force members and representatives from the Miami/Ft. Lauderdale UASI attend SERDSTF Quarterly Meetings to assess regional needs and identify solutions, share information, develop regional homeland security grant applications, and identify training opportunities. SERDSTF and the Miami/Ft. Lauderdale UASI work hand in hand to enhance regional capabilities and share information with multi-disciplinary public and private partners. After-Action Reports and Improvement Plans (AAR/IP) will comply with the Homeland Security Exercise and Evaluation Program (HSEEP), and will be shared with affected whole community and regional partners via well-established protocol. Partners may also share the information gathered at the quarterly meetings with non-partner stakeholders within their jurisdictions, as they deem appropriate.

7. CREATIVE and INNOVATIVE APPROACHES

Comprised of 4 counties and 109 multi-jurisdictional partners, SERDSTF is the only alliance of its kind in FL. The SERDSTF distinguishes itself from other task forces, with its scope and approach for building capacity in collaboration with the whole community to prepare for and prevent terrorist attacks and other mass casualty events and emergencies. This process was recognized by NCTC/DHS/FBI as a best practice during the 2014 Miami Joint Counterterrorism Awareness Workshop Series (JCTAWS). Additionally, in 2016 the State utilized the SERDSTF process as a template for the redesign of its domestic security process.

Our well-established network of regional partnerships and whole community collaboration promotes creative, innovative, and replicable approaches to preparing for a CCTA. The SERDSTF has the capability, expertise, and resources necessary to design and implement the HSEEP compliant CCTA full-scale exercise, conduct a series of table top exercises at each of our county emergency operation centers, provide training to all participating jurisdictions and effectively disseminate findings/results. Our multi-prong approach will incorporate providing train-the-trainer classes for all the regional partners in Bleeding Control for the Injured (B-Con), Critical Decision Making for Complex Coordinated Attacks (PER-335), Rescue Task Force Training, L-965 Resource Unit Leader Course NIMS ICS All-Hazards and L-964 - Situation Unit Leader Course NIMS ICS All-Hazards curriculum. Partners will collaborate in scheduling training responsibilities, creating a cadre of instructors which will allow for a greater sharing of knowledge. Training is further enhanced by having a diversified field of trainers from law enforcement, fire rescue and hospital-based facilities. Creating a regional training team will have the benefit of reducing overtime cost to any one regional partner by having additional instructors to call upon. The SERDSTF will develop a SERDSTF CCTA Planning Team (Planning Team) comprised of regional multi-discipline subject matter experts serving on the taskforce and the UASI. Consultants will be employed to update and consolidate the gap analysis, and develop and coordinate table top exercises. Focusing on gaps identified during the JCTAWS and the Operation Heat Shield regional full-scale exercise, the Planning Team will develop and implement a full-scale exercise that necessitates the immediate multi-jurisdictional response of law enforcement and fire departments from Miami-Dade, Broward, Palm Beach and Monroe counties. The exercise will build on the training implemented upon receipt of the CCTA grant and will include smaller agencies that usually do not have the funding for CCTA preparedness.

REGIONAL APPROACH

8. REGIONAL APPROACH, CROSS JURISDICTIONAL COLLABORATION

This project will utilize the regional approach modeled by the Southeast Regional Domestic Security Task Force which has already successfully supported regional sustainment for over ten years and was recognized as a best practice during the JCTAWS series. SERDSTF staff is well experienced and already providing day-to-day management and support to 109 multi-discipline multi-jurisdictional task force partners mentioned above. Staff will provide day to day management and coordination during all phases of the project. Hundreds of task force members and representatives from the Miami/Ft. Lauderdale UASI attend the SERDSTF Quarterly Meetings to assess regional needs and identify solutions, share information, develop regional homeland security grant applications, and identify regional training opportunities. Regional partners are divided into 11 discipline-specific working groups, which are chaired and co-chaired by their peers. These working groups further enhance regional information sharing, training, and collaboration, and facilitate work relationships that are based on trust and respect.

The SERDSTF process is efficient, facilitates regional sustainment, resilience and cost effectiveness through multi-jurisdictional voluntary investment and sharing of resources including mostly free training, facilities and equipment. The project will use already trained personnel to conduct classes using a Train the Trainer approach. This will allow more classes to be offered in an array of disciplines that can be tailored to specific needs. Smaller and under resourced jurisdictions will have access to training otherwise not available to them and will be able to provide critical support during a CCTA.

9. REGIONAL PARTNERS and WHOLE COMMUNITY STAKEHOLDERS

The 40 SERDSTF agencies listed below will support the objectives of this CCTA project by either conducting CCTA related courses, providing personnel to serve as CCTA related regional Train the Trainers, conducting regional table top exercises, or participating in the regional full scale exercise. Partners have provided support letters.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

10. PROJECT MANAGEMENT APPROACH, MEASURES, METRICS and SUSTAINABILITY

The SERDSTF will develop a CCTA Planning Team comprised of regional multi-discipline subject matter experts serving on the taskforce and UASI. Consultants will be employed to update and consolidate the gap analysis and update the Regional Terrorism Response Plan. The Planning Team will provide oversight to these consultants to ensure adherence to the schedule and to maintain accountability. Due dates for milestones and deliverables will be incorporated into the contracts of consultants whom will be contractually obligated to report, meet with and provide biweekly status/progress reports to the Planning Team. These reports will be analyzed to verify performance of activities in keeping with the project's objectives and timeline and to identify solutions to any potential setbacks or issues. The planning team will also monitor the expenses to ensure compliance with approved budget and allowable program costs.

Regional training classes will be offered on specific dates and regional partners will be notified of those dates well in advance. A full-time, dedicated program director will monitor the project's progress. Agencies committed to conducting regional training or table top exercises will be responsible for accomplishing the same within the designated phase and for meeting regional milestones and providing progress reports. Planning and implementation of the full-scale exercise will take place after regional training and table top exercises are completed, to address gaps that were identified. The project schedule will be adjusted as feasible to ensure on-time completion within budget parameters. These performance measures and related metrics will be used to track project effectiveness and progress:

Goal	Performance Measure	Metric
1	Completion of the updated and consolidated gap analysis	Gap analysis document
2	Percent of exercise scenarios completed by partners	Number of scenarios completed out of 12 total
3	Number of personnel who participated in table top and full scale exercises	Sign-in sheet for each exercise
4	Number of partners who completed the train the trainer courses	Certificates of completion collected from partners as proof of attendance

Sustainability

This project will utilize a Train the Trainer approach by which people initially trained will be equipped to train others throughout the region. This process will be repeated to maintain a cadre of trained regional personnel and to efficiently instruct regional partners at little or no cost. Whole community partnerships offered through the Miami UASI and SERDSTF will continue to be leveraged beyond the grant period. These multi-jurisdiction, multi-discipline partnerships provide a collaborative forum to plan, train, and exercise in a coordinated manner. Processes and protocols developed through this Project will be maintained and updated as needed. Regional partners will continue to utilize Homeland Security Grant funding and any other funds to conduct regional training and exercises in an effort to maintain capabilities to respond to CCTA. Regional partners will also pursue grants from foundations, local, state, and the federal government to ensure the capabilities are sustained.

SOUTHEAST FLORIDA COMPLEX COORDINATED TERRORIST ATTACK INITIATIVE

11. PROJECT PLAN, SCHEDULE and MILESTONES

This project will increase the preparedness of the Southeast Florida Region in its ability to respond to CCTA type events. To this end, a collaborative SERDSTF Planning Team will manage and coordinate all phases of the project, review existing plans and after action reports and oversee all project consultants. A consultant will be contracted to update the existing gap analysis utilizing information gathered from various CCTA type regional exercises. The consultant will produce a report consolidating findings into one regional HSEEP compliant document that can be shared amongst all partners. The Regional Planning Council will be contracted to assist with the planning, design and implementation of four HSEEP compliant table top exercises for each of the region's emergency operations centers. These table tops will facilitate the spirit of cooperation and regional approach of this project. They will be conducted prior to the regional full scale exercise to address gaps and test each county's whole community approach as well as processes for family reunification and the establishment of a family assistance center. Each county will then produce a findings report that will be shared in the quarterly SERDSTF meetings. Further, regional personnel will provide a series of Train- the-Trainer classes covering B-Con, TECC, and LEFR-TCC at various locations throughout the region. A multi-discipline regional planning team will develop a regional CCTA full-scale exercise to address identified gaps.

These activities related to identifying gaps have been accomplished: 1) reviewed several capability and vulnerability assessments to identify gaps and to validate areas needing improvement; 2) identified federal, state and local resources to mitigate gaps; and 3) identified regional partners who will provide in-kind training, facilities and equipment. All project activities will be conducted in adherence to the schedule below.

IMPACT

12. POTENTIAL IMPACTS ON INCREASING PREPAREDNESS/RESILIENCE and NEGATIVE IMPACTS

This project incorporates the whole community to include first responder agencies as well as Faith Based organizations, NGO's, and private businesses which enhances preparedness by expanding the number of entities that can assist in a CCTA. The exercise scenarios are designed to trigger a response from regional law enforcement, fire responders, health and medical, county emergency operations centers, the South Florida Fusion Center, the Southeast Regional Domestic Security Task Force, Interoperable Communications, joint media and maritime personnel within each county. The hands-on learning environment facilitated by the CCTA project will increase the preparedness and resilience capabilities of regional multi-disciplinary partners who would not otherwise train together.

Through this project, participants will improve gaps in their communication, coordination, integration, intelligence and information sharing and command and control skills. The exercises in this project are a fundamental part of increasing preparedness and resilience. Rehearsing for a CCTA will involve assessing the regions overall preparedness by testing procedures, logistics, communications, and developing competencies. Participants will improve their capabilities by using procedures planned for real events which will ensure the region has the best possible contingency plans in place to respond to a CCTA. The project will test the efficacy of implemented solutions to issues which will enable the region to make corrections.

Table top exercises will stimulate discussion of various issues regarding the hypothetical full scale scenario and will be used to assess plans, policies and procedures or assess types of systems needed to guide the prevention of, response to and recovery from an event. The exercise will facilitate understanding of concepts, identification of strengths and shortfalls, and/or achieve a change in attitude. In depth discussions will allow participants to develop decisions.

The approach to this project is strategically designed to increase regional preparedness and resilience by mitigating issues related to a lack of funding, location and other obstacles and building awareness and regional capabilities to prepare for, respond to and recover from a CCTA event. It facilitates regional sustainment, resilience and cost effectiveness through multi-jurisdictional voluntary investment and sharing of resources including training, facilities and equipment. The Train the Trainer approach inherent in this project mitigates these issues by equipping personnel with the skills necessary to provide training that educates partners to build on the capabilities developed in this project. This will allow more classes to be offered in convenient locations and will increase access by smaller or under resourced jurisdictions that are currently prevented from participating due to proximity, cost or other related impediments.

Without this funding and the implementation of this project, Southeast Florida will be precluded from executing region wide proactive multi-disciplinary CCTA type training and exercises for affected municipalities that do not receive SHGP funding. It will be vulnerable to potential loss of life, financial distress and other negative effects of CCTA. Southeast Florida is the largest and most densely populated region in the state, with more than 33% of Florida's population and critical infrastructure. Florida's SHGP allocation formula fails to take into account the region's shifting population associated with tourism. These fluctuations increase the region's risk environment from CCTA incidents.

13. HOW REGIONAL APPROACH ENHANCES PROJECT EFFECTIVENESS

Emergency preparedness is achieved by planning, training, equipping and exercising the emergency response organization as mirrored in this project (<https://training.fema.gov/>). The regional approach for this project will engage multi-disciplined regional partners in training and exercising together. This collaborative approach will ensure partners are familiar with their respective roles in planning for, preventing, and responding to a CCTA event. This regional approach builds on the network of existing partnerships established more than ten years ago through the Miami UASI and SERDSTF, to increase organizational readiness and minimize the adverse impact of CCTA events by means of active responses to protect the health and safety of individuals and functioning of physical structures. The cooperation between partners will help to achieve practical and coherent results and will permit a deeper collaboration in critical areas of intelligence and information sharing. Through targeted training to counter CCTA events, this regional approach will increase the capacity of regional partners. The uniformity in project implementation with the presence of control and efficient monitoring makes the regional strategy work. It will avoid issues individual partners have related to logistics and lack of potential to execute the planned training and exercises. This project facilitates the spirit of cooperation and regional preparedness among jurisdictions and entities in Southeast Florida.

This project will clearly address identified gaps by developing effective and responsive regional training and exercises. Training will ensure that a cadre of instructors is available region wide on an ongoing basis to educate personnel on the capabilities developed in this project. Table top exercises will stimulate discussion of various issues related to gaps in the hypothetical CCTA event and will be used to assess plans, policies and procedures or assess types of systems needed to guide the prevention of, response to and recovery from the event. The CCTA full scale exercise will address identified gaps to increase regional preparedness and resilience by exposing personnel to scenarios designed to close these gaps. Participants will improve their capabilities by using procedures planned for real-world events, which will ensure the region has the best possible contingency plans in place to respond to a CCTA. By utilizing the regional approach modeled by the Southeast Regional Domestic Security Task Force, this project is able to support multi-jurisdictional & multi-discipline collaborations to address identified CCTA response gaps.

Project partners are pledging resources, personnel, time and expertise to guarantee the success of this project. Cost effectiveness has been achieved by many of the partners committing to participating at no-cost and by volunteering the use of facilities and sites for the exercises and to conduct trainings.

15. PLAN FOR SUSTAINING CAPABILITIES DEVELOPED THROUGH FY 2016 CCTA

Sustainment of capabilities through ongoing regional CCTA training and exercise will be ensured using CCTA trainers from each county, along with the continued participation of the UASI and the SERDSTF once the grant ends. The region will efficiently maintain a team of instructors to continuously accomplish the initiatives developed in this project by utilizing a Train the Trainer approach. Primary response teams will continue to incorporate under resourced municipal partners in regional training to maintain and improve upon capabilities achieved by participating in the CCTA funded training and exercises. Jurisdictions region wide will continue to contribute voluntary investments and sharing of training, facilities and equipment. As funding is available and appropriated by U.S. DHS/FEMA, participating counties and jurisdictions in the Southeast FL region will support future training and exercise priorities by leveraging UASI funds and available SHGP funding. Regional partners will also pursue grants from foundations, local, state, and other federal funding to ensure the capabilities are sustained.

SUBJECT: Fiscal Year (FY) 2016 Program to Prepare Communities for Complex
Coordinated Terrorist Attacks Grant Program

Today, the Department of Homeland Security's (DHS) Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) is pleased to announce final funding allocations for the FY 2016 Program to Prepare Communities for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks Grant Program (CCTA Grant Program).

Recent terrorist incidents, such as those in London, England; Boston, Massachusetts; Nairobi, Kenya; San Bernardino, California; Paris, France; and Brussels, Belgium highlight an emerging threat known as complex coordinated terrorist attacks. The FY 2016 CCTA Grant Program is intended to enhance security and build capacity for jurisdictions to prepare for, prevent, and respond to complex coordinated terrorist attacks that may occur across the nation.

The selected recipients will receive funding specifically to develop and implement effective, sustainable, and regional approaches for enhancing preparedness for complex coordinated terrorist attacks, which include the following components: identifying capability gaps, developing and/or updating plans, training to implement plans and procedures, and conducting exercises to validate capabilities. Successful projects will focus on advancing whole community and regional partnerships by collaborating across jurisdictional boundaries and multi-disciplinary entities.

The total amount of funds allocated for the FY 2016 CCTA Grant Program is $35,940,000.

Dear Members of the Southeast Regional Domestic Security Task Force (SERDSTF),

The event at Fort Lauderdale Airport on Friday, January 6, 2017, highlighted the necessity for a cooperative regional and multi-discipline preparedness, response, and recovery. The Southeast Regional Domestic Task Force functions as a structure for all of our members to meet, train, exercise and equip ourselves. Most importantly, the system functions as a way to cross-pollinate ideas and forge personal trust. The cross-discipline response to the vile attack on the Fort Lauderdale Airport demonstrated the continuing need to work together, identify gaps in our capabilities, and offer our unique capabilities and expertise to a common goal.

Going forward the SERDSTF will continue to pinpoint best practices and fill the gaps that were identified during the events on January 6th. We will engage with all of the disciplines to assure that critically needed missions and roles are identified and filled in both the initial response to a terrorist attack and the critical stages in the aftermath. We will engage with our grant partners of the State Homeland Security (SHSP) Grant and the Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI) to assure we remain a coordinated and successful region.

In 2017, the Department of Homeland Security offered a new opportunity known as the Grant to Prepare Communities for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks. The SERDSTF and the South Florida UASI are submitting a mutual plan that will include partners from each of the region's disciplines, along with our airports and seaports, to demonstrate our coordinated efforts. The final plan will be reviewed and endorsed by the Chair and Co-Chair of the SERDSTF.

We recognize, appreciate and applaud the efforts of every discipline that responded to the Fort Lauderdale Airport. Please continue to support the SERDSTF by providing fresh input and ideas.

Best Regards,

Sheriff Ric Bradshaw, Chair

RE: Applicatory support for the Fiscal Year 2016 Program to Prepare Communities for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks (CCTA Program)

Dear Chief Henbest,

Please accept this letter as a symbolism of Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood International Airport's full support with regards to the CCTA Program and its application process. Throughout our nation's history, and now with more recent events transpiring here at the airport, I fully agree that more prevention and mitigation efforts can be taken (i.e. training, planning, resources, etc.) to better serve our community of travelers and stakeholders and do hereby acknowledge through use of the federal grant, these measures are more feasible and affordable.

In addition, please note that my staff and I are here to work with you to ensure a more streamlined process and successful outcome. I further commend you for taking the lead on this and pulling the other outlined agencies together for the application.

Bleeding Control (B-Con) Kits as well as Train-the-Trainer opportunities would exist at our location by use of the grant funding that is provided. It is the airport's intent to have these B-Con kits in place at every AED location found at the airport. Additionally, training would be provided by officially certified/licensed EMT and nurses through our local fire partners, Broward Sheriff's Office Fire Station #10.

I cordially request that updates on the application, process, and results be transmitted regularly to ensure the most up-to-date information as possible. I look forward to assisting you in any means applicable. Please feel free to reach out to me or my Airport Emergency Manager, Jason Alvero, should you have any questions or require further support.

RE: 2016 Program to Prepare the County for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks

To Whom It May Concern:

On behalf of The Public Health Trust dba Jackson Health System (JHS), I am pleased to express our support and commitment as a community partner for the City of Miami Fire Rescue's application to the Department of Homeland Security, Federal Emergency Management Agency. If awarded, the grant will improve the ability of the City and its regional partners to prepare for, prevent, and respond to complex coordinated terrorist attacks.

The City of Miami is equipped to lead this South Florida regional effort to better prepare our vulnerable communities for a terrorist attack. In light of the recent tragedies in Florida at the Orlando nightclub and the Fort Lauderdale airport, it is critical that the regional partnership under the leadership of the City of Miami obtain funding to train members of the community and implement a variety of exercises on a multi-jurisdictional scale to increase public safety.

JHS pledges to participate as a community partner in identifying gaps, planning, training, and participating in exercises in support of the above objectives. The proposed project will serve to enhance our capability to carry-out our mission as the safety-net hospital in the event of a terrorist attack. JHS is an academic health system with a public healthcare mission and partners with the University of Miami Miller School of Medicine to provide care to many of the 2.69 million residents throughout the nearly 2,000 square mile county.

Miami-Dade County's Emergency Management Plan has designated JHS as a Critical Infrastructure and First Responder. JHS is prepared to serve the injured and takes an all-hazards approach in its training and preparation so the emergency preparedness response teams are able to handle chemical, radiological, biological, nuclear, or explosive attacks, in addition to mass casualty events, natural disasters, and pandemic infectious diseases.

Ryder Trauma Center at Jackson Memorial Hospital (JMH) is the only Level 1 trauma facility in the County and served 4,179 adult and pediatric patients (FY14-15). In May 2016, Jackson South Community Hospital opened a Level II trauma center to cover injured residents in south Miami-Dade. The Burn Center is one of the leading burn treatment facilities in the nation. It is the only one in South Florida with a reported 4,540 inpatient visits and 4,817 outpatient visits. The Poison Control Center is only one of three in the state, is open 24/7/365, and handled 50,150 calls in FY15-16. As part of its emphasis on serving the injured amid a mass casualty incident involving any chemical or radiological contamination, JHS has decontamination units at its three main facilities: Jackson Memorial Hospital, Jackson North Medical Center and Jackson South Community Hospital.

As healthcare leaders in the community, it is our duty and our privilege to support any and initiatives that keep our residents and visitors safe. We commend the City of Miami's proactive efforts to make South Florida and the jurisdictions within the region better prepared to protect and serve the public interest.

Should you have any questions, please don't hesitate to contact me at 305-585-6754 or Manuel Fraga, Director of Grant Operations at 305-585-7596. Your consideration of this application from the City of Miami is greatly appreciated.

RE: FY 2016 Program to Prepare Communities for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks

To Whom It May Concern:

This letter is to support the City of Miami's proposal for the FY 2016 Program to Prepare Communities for Complex Coordinated Terrorist Attacks grant application. It is our understanding that the monies, if awarded, will be utilized by the City of Miami Department of Fire-Rescue in collaboration with regional partners to improve the region's ability to prepare for, prevent, and respond to complex terrorist attacks.

The City of Miami is equipped to lead this South Florida regional effort to better prepare South Florida against terrorist attacks. In light of the recent tragedies Florida has experienced in both Orlando and Ft. Lauderdale, less than a year apart, it is critical that the City of Miami obtain the funding necessary to implement activities on an expansive, multi-jurisdictional scale to increase public safety.

The American Red Cross South Florida Region looks forward to working in close partnership with the City of Miami and all other regional partners within this program. This partnership will strengthen and enhance our ability to support our partners in preparing for and responding to complex coordinated terrorist attacks in South Florida. As leaders in the community, it is our duty to support any and all initiatives that keep our residents and visitors safe. We commend the City of Miami's proactive efforts to make Miami and all jurisdictions throughout our region better prepared to protect and serve the public interest.

Sincerely,

Carlos J. Castillo, Regional Disaster Officer
American Red Cross, South Florida Region
