Historic Preservation Board - Questions*

1- I'm active in the HLCA and have attended the most recent HPB meeting. I've reviewed the HPB design guidelines and understand the intent behind them and the review process.

2- While most of my work is commercial and institutional construction, I believe my experience as a construction manager will offer a valuable perspective in terms of constructability and suitability. I've lived in Hollywood for 10 years, but in South Florida most of my life, and I've always appreciated the unique nature of Hollywood (and the Lakes in particular) as a quaint city with rich history. Even as a child, I marveled at how this neighborhood felt like it was still in the 30s, 40s, and 50s, and how wonderful it was that this had been maintained. I hope to help preserve that feeling for future Hollywood resident and visitors.

3- Growing the tax base is important for a large and diverse city as Hollywood. However, there are many opportunities for growth without continuously mining our historic districts for developer dollars. History will judge us not by what we destroy, but by what we preserve.

4- This is a difficult question without context. Tasteful modern architectural styling is not necessarily in conflict with preserving the character of a historic neighborhood. In its time, Art Deco was a "modern architectural styling". I feel that one should consider how a design fits with the neighboring structures. A small contemporary design would seem more appropriate next to a 1926 Mission Style home than would another Mission Style that was of monstrous sizing. Context matters.

5. I like the feel of the structures that cause you to mentally go "back in time." Not necessarily back to the 20s like my home, but even the 40s, 50s or 60s. And the homes don't have to be that old. Rather it's about the feeling that looking at them conveys. I also appreciate the "smallness" of the buildings: the smaller single family homes, two-story apartment buildings, low-rise motels, etc.

Please answer these five questions above. 1. How have you prepared yourself to serve on the Historic Preservation Board? 2. Explain how your personal and/or professional experiences will contribute to the meeting the goal(s) of the Board or City. * Personal experiences, * Professional experiences. 3. What is your perspective on balancing growth of the City's tax base, within the Historic Districts, while maintaining neighborhood stabilization? 4. How would you balance historic architecture with modern architectural styles? 5. What do you like about the City's different Historic Districts?

Hollywood Housing Authority - Questions*
