Education Advisory Committee - Questions*

1. What are the current challenges facing education?

Current challenges that are facing education happen both ways, from the students and the teachers. Challenges that students face include not understanding the topic being taught, being too lazy to work, and overreliance on AI to complete assignments. While in some cases AI can be beneficial and helpful, most of the time it does not allow the student to think for themselves resulting in them not fully understanding the topic. Challenges that teachers have include things such as not being strict enough to catch AI or allowing people not to pay attention in class. Another reason might be lacking passion for teaching causing them to not teach topics to the students as they have hoped.

2. What is your vision for education in Hollywood?

My vision for education in Hollywood is to make it accessible to as many people as possible, while also making sure that it is beneficial to all the people engaged in the process.

3. What do you see as the primary work of the Education Advisory Committee?

I see the primary work of the Education Advisory Committee to make sure that everyone in the city gets an education that will benefit them in many different ways.

4. With only one meeting a month, the Committee is limited in what it can do. How does/should the Committee decide what's most important?

I think that at each meeting we can discuss what can be improved, what may need to be fixed or the problems that education is facing in the city. We can prioritize based on the present needs of our community. And, we can turn to the Student alternates to give their take on how they see or experience whatever is being discussed.

5. How can the Committee know if its mission and goals are being accomplished?

The committee can know this by asking the schools to display its mission and goals publicly at schools, and ask for regular feedback. Another way that the committee can know is by relying on the student alternates to report back t
